

Emerging Markets Separate Account

SEPTEMBER 30, 2023

INVESTMENT OBJECTIVES

The investment objective of the Emerging Markets Separate Account is to seek long term capital appreciation. The manager seeks to achieve its investment objective by investing at least 80% of its net assets, which include borrowings for investment purposes, in equity securities of companies that are tied economically to emerging market countries. Emerging market countries are defined as those that are included in Morgan Stanley Capital International (MSCI) Emerging Markets Index. The Advisor expects that from time to time the account will invest significant portions of its assets in the Asian and Latin American regions. The advisor will focus the strategy's investment on companies that are believed to be financially sound and stable but growing, and make dividend distributions.

INVESTMENT PROCESS HIGHLIGHTS

The strategy follows a disciplined three step investment process: screen, scorecard and review. The screening process eliminates candidates based on negative attributes. The scorecard process ranks candidates based on macro and micro fundamental attributes. The review process provides regular and dynamic evaluation of portfolio holdings. The investment process is intended to be consistent, transparent and repeatable.

GEOGRAPHIC SELECTION

To determine preferred markets, the strategy utilizes a proprietary scorecard which weights various economic indicators based on numerous factors such as relative trend, sustainability, volatility, economic cycle, geopolitical risk and other risk factors. Countries/regions are initially screened based on economic fundamentals, and then further refined based on dynamic elements which tend to be forward looking.

SECTOR SELECTION

The strategy reviews and selects sectors it believes will perform well against a global macro economic backdrop, and in the countries it focuses on. The strategy will focus on sectors in individual countries with favorable growth outlooks, well-positioned against anticipated secular shifts in supply/demand plentiful resources and a favorable political and regulatory environment.

Successful security selection is both an art and a science. The strategy strives to standardize the investment process so that it is consistent, transparent and repeatable.

Prior to making an investment, the strategy focuses on eight factors:

- Investing involves risks and you may incur a profit or a loss. Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Foreign investments present additional risks due to currency fluctuations, economic and political factors, lower liquidity, government regulations, differences in securities regulations and accounting standards, possible changes in taxation, limited public information and other factors. The risks are magnified in emerging market countries, since these countries may have relatively unstable governments and less established markets and economies. Investments in gold and gold companies are subject to risks. There is the possibility of wide fluctuations in the price of gold. In addition; the market for gold is relatively limited and unregulated and the sources of gold are concentrated in countries that have the potential for instability. Precious metals and natural resources securities can be volatile and may be subject to sharp fluctuations in prices, even during periods of rising prices.

- The MSCI Emerging Markets Index captures large and mid cap representation across 24 Emerging Markets countries.
